Honor code

Honor code violations will be dealt with decisively (failing grade and expulsion from school).

✓ The honor code is in effect throughout the semester. By taking this course, you affirm that it is a violation of the code to cheat on exams, to plagiarize, to deviate from the teacher's instructions about collaboration on work that is submitted for grades, to give false information to a faculty member, and to undertake any other form of academic misconduct. You agree that the teacher is entitled to move you to another seat during examinations, without explanation. You also affirm that if you witness others violating the code you have a duty to report them to the honor council.

Expected student conduct

Please do not miss any class. Students who miss class will not be accommodated.

✓ Please adhere to the following guidelines in class.

- Be on time. Late arrival disturbs the lectures and will not be allowed.
- Turn off your mobile phone and other electronic gadgets before you enter class.
- Participate in class discussions. Be attentive and take detailed notes.

✓ Please adhere to the following guidelines outside class.

- Look over the assigned material before class and read it carefully after the lecture.
- Do the assigned homework problems on a regular basis. Economics requires gradual learning.
- Please discuss with us any problems you may have in the course or any suggestions to improve the course.

Canvas

Canvas is a communication medium used to make announcements, distribute handouts and lectures, post reading material, collect assignments, and record and distribute grades. To get to the Canvas main page go to <https://classes.emory.edu> and then use your e-mail ID and password to log in and select our course. If you cannot log in, you perhaps have difficulty with your e-mail (network) ID and password. You may contact classes@emory.edu for any problems or questions you might have. There are several navigation buttons on our entry page that help us organize and classify information.
